Mr. Gannon,

I've been a recreational consumer of Jordan Lake for the past seventeen years. Like thousands of others, we swim, kayak, birdwatch etc. on Jordan Lake.

For the past several years, my wife has taken swimming off the list. Repeated rashes on the kids after swimming in Jordan Lake now keep us out of the water.

I'm glad you are starting a conversation about new rules for the lake, and I am wondering if "water clean enough to swim in" might be one of them.

Mr. Robinson,

I am glad you folks are revisiting the rules for Jordan lake. It has always struck me as odd that we allow motorized crafts on our water supply. As you know, it takes very little petroleum to despoil vast amounts of water.

It makes sense to me to ban motorized crafts all together.
